Carrying Deadly Weapons

About every criminal the police arrest carries one or more "guns," and it is seldom a law-abiding citizen has one even when he is held up and needs it most. The law drawn up by our own Judge Sadler was one of the best ever put on the statute books, and if enforced would put an end to carrying weapons, and put away for a long time those who defy it. When a criminal is "frisked" and a gun found on him, he may be discharged or released on bonds and the weapon is returned to him almost with an apology for having taken it from him, hence the "blue steel" gun is easily secured, and is part of the complement of every well regulated burglar, thug or "tough guy." There are more weapons to be found in pool rooms and other haunts of criminals than is carried by the gun stores, yet no effort seems to be made to secure and destroy them as the law requires. The respectable citizen is placed under every disadvantage in meeting a hold-up man, as the criminal knows the victim has no weapon, and the assailant runs no risk. It becomes an accomplishment in these circles to be able to wield a gun with deftness and grace, a la Bill Hart or Tom Mix, and the boy who accomplishes it soon yearns for an opportunity to put his accomplishment into practice, and generally he does so often at the cost of the life of his innocent and unarmed victim. Automatics and revolvers are advertised at bargain prices in nearly every magazine, and many daily papers by mail order houses, and it is up to the national government to come to the relief of the different states to make their laws effective, making it illegal to sell a weapon to anyone without a permit, and to limit the permits to peace officers. Take away the privilege of granting permits from justices of the peace and confine it to judges of the United States courts, and few of the criminal class will care to appear before a court to make an appeal for a permit.

Our Faulty Tax System

This is the season of the year when we are expected to pay our local taxes, and when criticism of our system is most prevalent. That our taxes are high is due to the fact that they are not levied and collected equitably. There is no more reason why one man should be taxed and another not, than that one man should be compelled to buy another man's clothing or groceries. If all were assessed equitably the burden would be much lighter, but when the man with a few sticks of furniture is assessed as much as the one who owns a sumptuous establishment, the poorer man is asked to pay his money to the favored one. There are many homes that have thousands of dollars in value on their walls in pictures and works of art that pay no more taxes than the poor man who has only the most meagre furniture, yet we seldom hear of such inequalities being checked up or corrected. There will always be a difference of opinion as to the best method of levying taxes, but it seems as if the income tax, based upon the income of the payer would be the best. The income tax of the national government, while not perfect, has proven much more so than the way our local tax is levied, due to penalties for filing false statements most likely, but if each return was checked up as closely as the government checks the income tax, there would be a greater likelihood of true returns, and the people of great wealth would be compelled to pay nearer their share of the taxes.

Mrs. J. Potter, 69th st. and Stewart ave., will spend the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Going South for the Winter

It seems the great ambition of all Chicagoans to be able to go to some southern climate for the winter months, and most people think that avoiding our cold winter weather adds to our health and prolongs our life. Southern lands and the transportation companies build on this in the advertising of their climes, but the best health authorities claim that this is a mistaken idea. Dry southern regions will doubtless maintain the health and promote the longevity of old persons, but during adult active life one should not go to a climate farther south than that in which they were born. This is the advice of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the highest credited authority on the subject in the world. Life is always longer among people of a colder climate than those of the famed sunny south, and the cold bracing air of the north is the best tonic mother nature provides for us. Of course we must provide for the cold weather by wearing heavier clothing and regulating our diet to provide the necessary fuel food to meet the contrasting temperature between our indoor and outdoor life. The one advantage of a mild climate is that one goes outdoors more and receives the benefit of purer air than the one who stays indoors to keep warm and neglects proper ventilation and exercise, but should one avail themselves of these benefits, this excellent authority says, that residents of the colder climates enjoy better health than those of the warmer southern zones. The active brainy men of the world come from the colder country, as also do the leaders in all branches of industry, finance, politics and commerce.

Our Country—Always

American form of government is recognized throughout the world as the most humanitarian, most stable and most effective of all forms.

No real cause for unrest or discontent exists. Industry is thriving at peak loads and payrolls are being steadily maintained. Labor and capital in America are nearly at balance.

Americans are not blind to the ills of European nations where famine and internal strife are preventing the orderly conduct of affairs and where such conditions prevent a well balanced return to pre-war prosperity.

Americans will not brook the destructive forces from without to enter our country with pink and red propaganda designed to disrupt the nation and turn its affairs over to an element which knows no law—either of man or God—and destroy the initiative of a hundred and ten millions of souls.

No socialistic or communistic doctrines can successfully endure in any nation, and this has been recognized in America for more than a century of orderly administration.

There is no place here for the forces of destruction.

Mrs. Harry Swift, 6800 Union ave., was one of the delegates who attended the Democratic convention at Springfield, Ill., Thursday and Friday.

Englewood Pioneer Passes Away

Caroline S. Nelson (nee Borell), born December 28, 1840, in Ostjofors, Rumskulla Socken, Sweden, came to Chicago, October 1866.

She became the wife of the late Nels P. Nelson, January 28, 1869. Mr. Nelson was the first lock-up keeper in the old Englewood station, located at 63rd and Wentworth ave., and prior to his death was desk sergeant at the present Englewood police station.

Mrs. Nelson was a charter member of the Bethlehem Lutheran church, where she has been an active member up to the time of her death, which occurred at her late residence, 231 W. 58th st., where she has resided for the past 36 years.

She is survived by her sister Mrs. B. S. Nystrom of Brush Prairie, Washington, son Charles J. Nelson, daughter Mrs. Fred A. Nelson, both of Chicago, five grandchildren, two nephews and two nieces.

Funeral services from the Bethlehem Lutheran church, on Monday, January 21, and interment at Oak Woods cemetery.

Daughters of Isabella at Englewood K. C. Club

Bunco, card and dancing party. Again you are reminded that a bunco, card and dancing party will be given under the auspices of Delta Iota (all members of Calumet Circle Drill team), on Friday, January 25, at the Englewood K. C. clubhouse, 8:30 sharp. All the many friends of Calumet circle are urged to attend. Miss Helen O'Meara is chairlady of the occasion.

Calumet Drill team reached the high point of excellence in their drill work at the installation of officers, Morrison hotel, on January 4. It claims a membership of 28 and they're "all attractive" girls. Regent Loretta Fitzgerald is their drill leader.

Initiation and dues await your attention today. Last notice, all applications must be sent in immediately to Loretta Fitzgerald, if you would have your candidates initiated with the February class. Do not disappoint her, get busy.

Advance dues should be sent to Miss Catherine Daly, 4208 Lowe ave., today, together with scholarship fee (which is almost too small to mention), so save your officers the duty of again calling your attention to this matter. Do give them the consideration they are deserving of.

Large Representation at Funeral

Of course Calumet was represented on the sorrowful journey to Mineral Point, Wis., at the funeral ceremonies of Rev. Father Hishen, who was pastor of Holy Cross church for many years. Rev. Fr. Scanlon delivered the sermon.

Regent Loretta Fitzgerald and Vice-Regent Juletta Foley attended the funeral as well as many other members of Holy Cross parish and others, also members of the Circle.

Over three hundred members of the Circle paid their respects on Monday evening from 9 until 10 o'clock, at which time Calumet K. of C. took their places.

Calumet's members whether parishoners or otherwise (numbering over seven hundred, from every corner of the south side), have been a part of Holy Cross parish for more than eleven years, and have witnessed the wonderful work done during this time by their deceased pastor.

1923-1924 Blue Book Out

A copy of the 1923-1924 Illinois State Blue Book has just been received from Secretary of State Louis Emmerson, who publishes the book biennially. It is intended for reference purposes and its nine hundred and thirty-nine pages are crowded with facts about the state of Illinois.

Owing to a fire in the bindery of the plant where the book is being bound, delivery in quantities has been delayed until some additional forms can be run. The book received by this paper is one of the few which escaped the fire.

The present edition follows the general style adopted in the 1921-1922 edition but is more elaborate both as to subject matter and illustrations.

Elliott W. Sproul Candidate for Re-election

Rev. Elliott W. Sproul at the solicitation of administration leaders in Washington and of business and civic leaders in the Third Illinois district has consented again to be a candidate for re-election.

Keep a business man on the job.

Sent back to Washington a man who has been an administration stalwart, always upholding the hands of the late President Harding and President Coolidge, and their cabinet.

Representative Sproul stands on a record of work done, rather than one of promises.

He has been a close friend and co-worker with Chairman Madden of the powerful House appropriations committee in achieving the closest economy in government expenditures consistent with efficient operation of Federal activities affecting every community.

He has consistently supported the Administration program and was influential in the following constructive legislation:

Emergency tariff act. When the Republican party came into power in 1921, the Underwood free tariff was in force. The emergency tariff act opened the factories and put five million idle men to work. The Emergency act was followed by our present splendid tariff law.

The National debt has been reduced from something like $26,000,000,000 to a little over $21,000,000,000.

Taxes have been reduced for men of small incomes.

The classification act which will put all employees of the government on a living wage and remove the evil lump-sum appropriations, and the opportunity for "playing favorites." This will promote real economy and efficiency in the transaction of public work.

Representative Sproul is in favor of the Mellon Tax plan, and has been working earnestly with administration leaders for the early passage of this legislation so vital to the business and financial stability of the country.

His zeal to have the employees of the postal service given a "square deal" led to his appointment on one of the five great committees in the House—Post Office and Post Roads.

Representative Sproul's counsel is sought by the party leaders, his colleagues in Congress value his judgment on matters of business and political policy. He has many friends and no enemies in Congress. A newcomer could not hope to occupy such a strong position, or to exercise such strong influence for the Third Illinois District.

NOW IS NO TIME TO MAKE A CHANGE.—Adv.

Girls of Englewood High Will Receive Washing Lessons

A new way of beating the high cost of living is at hand. Girls of the Englewood High School may have detailed instructions next semester when a course in laundry is to be given with major credit.

The course, which requires five hours of class work each week, will include instruction of such labor saving devices as the electric washer and the mangle; the removal of stains from fabrics; the action of acids and alkalis on cotton, linen, silk, and wool; the washing of white silk so as to keep it white; and the washing of sweaters so that they may neither shrink nor stretch.

No heavy work is necessary, for the laundry equipment demands no lifting and no carrying of water.

"Laundry is important these days," said Miss Ada Johnson, instructor in the art of weaving, sewing, and laundry, "because many women who buy ready-to-wear clothes find it necessary to do their own washing. By understanding the correct laundering of garments, a woman not only is enabled to reduce the high cost of clean clothing, but eventually to save time and minimize wear and tear."

American Legion Post 123 Extends Invitation to Hiram Johnson

McCullough Post No. 123 American Legion extends invitation to Hon. Hiram Johnson to attend their banquet and installation of officers.

On Thursday evening, January 17, 1924, at a regular meteing of Mc Cullough post No. 123, American Legion, a motion was carried to ask the Hon. Hiram Johnson, candidate for president of the United States, to attend their installation of officers and banquet which is to be held at Hamilton Park field house, 72nd and Stewart ave., on Tuesday evening, February 12, 1924. Mr. Timothy J. O'Connell is chairman of the committee on extending the invitation. The banquet promises to be a brilliant affair. Among those invited are "Daddy Shick," past state commander American Legion, and Past State Chaplain Rev. Father John O'Donnell. John P. Sink, chairman of the entertainment committee has extended an invitation to all the old buddies of the "Fightin' Sivinth" to attend the next meeting on February 7, 1924. This is a rapidly growing post and the boys are out to put it on the map.

A record of eighty-two answers to one "want ad" in the Englewood Times. It cost thirty cents, but sold a $7,000 house.

Catholic Fives Will Play for U. S. Title

Teams from Many States and Cities Are to Compete Here in March

For the first time in the history of basketball the Catholic schools of the country will compete for the national interscholastic championship. The board of directors of this tournament, composed of men prominent in athletics in this city, has named March 26, 27, 28 and 29 as the date, and Loyola gymnasium as the place of the gathering.

The same procedure used in the annual interscholastic at the University of Chicago will prevail in this one. Only victorious teams in the large cities, states and other districts where the cage game is very popular will be the recipients of invitations.

Forty-Eight Teams to Play

Preliminary plans made before the national tournament became a certainty called for forty-eight entrants, representing most of the states in the union and almost all of the larger cities.

Father Thorning, director of athletics at Loyola University; Ed J. Daly, coach at St. Ignatius, and R. J. Erickson, secretary of the Catholic Athletic league, were the prime movers in bringing about a national championship.

Officials of the Tourney

A board of directors and an executive committee have been created for the purpose of insuring success to this venture. Brother Justus, St. Mel; J. G. Smith, S. J., Loyola university; Father Kelly, St. Rita; Father Gorman, De Paul; J. M. Quigley, St. Phillip; Father Dominic, St. Cyril; Daly, Father Thorning, C. J. Magee, W. H. Powell and Erickson compose the board, and P. J. Carr, Ald. Joseph McKenna, Fire Chief Edward J. Buckley, Robert M. Sweitzer, John Gorman, Father Malloy and Irwin M. Howe the committee.

This is the first time anything so immense has been attempted among Catholic institutions. It has been only in recent years that athletics has played such a big part in the curriculum of the schools. The local league has provided competition for its members in football, track, baseball and basket ball.

Kiwanis Banquet Scores Big Success

That the Kiwanis club differs from other organizations, in that it is not organized along racial or religious lines, but is founded on principles tending to break down barriers and prejudices and bring together men for the good of community and civic life, was pointed out by Dr. William B. Owen of the Chicago Normal college, chief speaker at the fourth annual banquet given by the Kiwanis club of Englewood at the Hamilton club Wednesday evening, January 16. As an example of the accomplishments of the organization, he told what Kiwanis had done for the Boy Scout movement, for disabled veterans, for Girl Scouts, and especially for the Y. M. C. A. drive in Englewood. At the close of his talk Dr. Owen presented Fred C. Rathje, retiring president, with the Kiwanis past president's pin

In his response Mr. Rathje stressed the co-operation he had received from the membership of the club during the past year and the satisfaction he had had in representing a "100 per cent. organization."

He turned the gavel over to Dr. Owen who, in turn, presented it to William G. Tegtmeier, 1924 Englewood Kiwanis president.

The Rev. R. D. Hughes, former president, gave the invocation and tenor solos were sung by B. Fred Wise. Attendance prizes, ten-dollar gold pieces, were won by Mrs. Stanley Webster and Otto Kastle. Following the banquet there was dancing and five hundred.

Frank Hallenbeck Boy Scout Campaign Chairman

The Southwest District of the Boy Scout organization announces that it has been very fortunate in securing Mr. Frank Hallenbeck, 6406 Harvard ave., to act as campaign chairman of the Southwest district, who in turn will be assisted by community chairman representing the eight communities in which the district has been divided relative to Scouting.

The speakers for the dinner to be given at the College cafe on January 28 for the purpose of forming the Southwest District council for this year, are as follows:

Mr. J. P. Freeman, assistant national field Scout executive; Mr. Barrett Wendell jr., general campaign chairman; Mr. Walter M. Kiplinger, regional Scout executive; Mr. G. B. Stephenson, Chicago Scout executive.

Representative Elliott W. Sproul Accepts Nomination

Republican party leaders and prominent local political workers throughout the third district are greatly pleased that Rep. Elliott W. Sproul has reconsidered his decision not again to be a candidate for Congress, and that he will accede to the earnest desires of his many friends and will seek re-election. This announcement is welcomed also by hundreds of men and women prominent in business and civic affairs.

In view of the fact that Representative Sproul has won a place in the inner circle of party councils at the Capitol, where his advice is sought by the most prominent men in National Affairs, and that he has been placed on important committees where he can exercise strong influence in favor of his home district, the political leaders in Washington and in his home district feel that now would be an unusually bad time to make any change.

In Washington, as well as at home, Representative Sproul's consistent stand in support of the President and administration policies and program is recognized. He is a close friend of the leading members of the Congress.

It was because of this strong standing in Congress that party leaders in the District became alarmed when Representative Sproul several weeks ago announced his intention not again to be a candidate. He was fairly deluged with letters and telegrams imploring him to reconsider that decision. His constituents, appreciative of the prompt and able service he has done in Congress, insisted that he must again be a candidate.

His colleagues in Congress, including practically all of those who hold the most prominent positions in Republican organization conferences, insisted that he must again become a candidate. Those associates in Congress have had an opportunity to see the results of his quiet, persistent influence in House committees and to recognize the value of his business training and exerience, as applied to the affairs of the Nation.

As an evidence of this business sagacity he was drafted from the House committee that has jurisdiction over the affairs of the National Capitol to a place on the Post Office and Post Roads committee which considers legislation for the greatest business in the world—the U. S. Postal service.

But it was not until the republican leaders of the Third Illinois District sent a delegation to Washington, insisting upon his allowing his name to be entered on the primary ballots, that he finally consented to accept what he considers "a sacred trust" for his friends and neighbors.

Boy Scout Banquet at Englewood Cafe

All the leading civic societies, are invited to this meeting for the purpose of picking representative men to represent the various communities of the Southwest district on the council.

Life is a funny sort of thing—
An auto trip, an airplane swing;
A bump the bumps, a swirling mass
Of things gone by and days to pass
The swifter whirl the faster set—
Far faster whirls are coming yet.
From cold, dead days to glorious spring
Life is a funny sort of thing.

It is funny isn't it?

If a woman is homely she tries to persuade herself that she has a classical face.

The planet Saturn is said to have ten moons. Huh! they got nothing on Chicago when it comes to moonshine.

No one knows what a really bad city Chicago is, until they have to relp upon the papers of other places for their news.

The young husband said "You spend too much money for false hair, look at your puffs" and the gentle bride answered "And you spend too much for your cigars, look at your puffs."

An amateur farmer (?) out at Gresham wrote Congressman Sproul for some tobacco seed. He added to his letter: "I want the kind of terbacco thet has tin tags onto it, middlin' dark and j ner."

Now comes some peace lover who wants to rewrite history by leaving out all accounts of wars. They could make it inside of very few volumes, and then what would one have learned?

Speaking about considerate autoists. I know a man who runs over people so regularly that he has exchanged his heavy car for a lighter one so that he will not hurt his victims so badly.

Since it has been demonstrated that tax reduction and granting of the soldiers bonus cannot team up, it keeps the politicians bobbing about some to keep right. They flirt with the bonus, but are really married to tax reduction.

A very pretty girl I met on the train in discusing matrimony voiced a whole lot of truth when she told me she "would not marry a man for his money, but she could not think of falling in love with a man who had none."

I thought Jim Ham Lewis our own political Adonis would be busy back home saving the country from the terrible Republican party, when he is scaring the life out of California with threats of a war with Japan, China and Russia combined.

And who of us all isn't caught in the whirl and swirl of it? One person told of a "quiet," well spent Sunday—day of rest. Early morning service; dinner with friends; ball game afternoon and card party in the evening. Can you beat it?

Up the Old Spanish Trail

From El Paso to Tucson, by the Salton Sea, and On to the Imperial Valley

Leaving El Paso and its wonders, we went up to Tucson, which is growing but is less progressive than other towns. On to Douglas, where all the great smelters are, we called on Mrs. Eugene Robinson, who many will remember as, Mary Palmer, a former Englewood girl, graduate of the high school and a favorite fifteen years ago. With husband nd two fine baby boys she is very happy here and likes the place. This is right on the Mexican border, and the main street is the boundary line. Further on we came to Columbus, the scene of the International battle some years ago, and the barracks and soldiers are still here, and the relations with the Mexican neighbors is now pleasant, no trace of the Huerta revolution having permeated this far north, and everyone seems satisfied with the Obregon administration, which is doing much for the education of the people and the relief of the peons.

An officer told me a story today of the present President Obregon, whom it is claimed is of Irish extraction, and whose name was originally O'Brien, and whose ancestors came to Mexico over a century ago. The largest banking house in the country is the McMahons, located in Chihuahua, and they are also of Milesian extraction. If they make presidents and bankers of the Irish down there, don't know but what it would be a good place for some of our police to emigrate. Even where the towns are partly in the United States and partly in Mexico it is easy to tell which is the American side, even without looking at the flag which floats above it. On our side is progress and cleanliness, and at least some attempt at orderly arrangement of the streets, while across the line shanties and adobes of a disreputable style prevail, and children, dogs and sheep intermingle indiscriminately. In the cattle country the cowboy no longer rides his "bronc," but a rusty, rattling auto, from a Ford to a Rolls-Royce. There is no bootlegging, as all one needs to do is to cross the street for imitation beer, and oodles of aguardiente and mescal, villainous whisky and brandy, made by the natives and with "kick" enough to kill a jackass rabbit. One does not see the swaggering cowboy of past years, the men do not wear firearms in public view, and the old-time picturesque garb is discarded for suits bought at the Army goods stores, mostly khaki or army goods, but all stick to the broad rimmed hats. The Mexicans wear the high pointed sombreros decorated with silver cords, but the Americans wear black Stetsons mostly.

Going north from Arizona into California we run into the big orchards and vineyards. One man planted a carload of grapevine slips on a 7,000 acre plat during the past season, and every small station has its fruit packing and loading facilities. Farther back in the country the Japanese gardeners raise all sorts of strange and domestic vegetables, but they are greatly hated by the natives, and their attempt to get into the Imperial valley, the most fertile place on God's great earth, was resented even by force, and the little yellow men are scared to death to enter it. They are industrious, seem to have no regular hours, but work day and night and between times, and are mighty mean competition for the ranchers and planters who pay real wages.

Every one of these small towns are prosperous and build pretty bungalows of either frame, brick or the adobe of the early days. The redwood of California predominates and looks like our cedar and is durable and substantial. The foundations are of concrete or cement blocks in imitation of regular cut stone, giving a pretty effect when colored either cream, yellow or even a tinge of red and blue. A noticeable fact is that every town has a park, no matter how small, with groves of palms and flowers of all kinds and generally a pretty little fountain, near enough to the railroad tracks to be seen by tourists and travelers who greatly admire them. The wealth of the Imperial valley is wonderful, and even the "striking of oil" in the vicinity does not lure the planters away from their rich acres.

Off to the left we see the Salton sea, that immense body of water about forty miles long and from two to twenty miles wide, made from the flow of the Colorado river when it was dammed below the Mexican line. It has no inlet now that is known of, but manages to keep its level some way, and even if it had no further inlet, it would take a hundred years for evaporation to dry it up.

There is some mining back in the hills and ore-bearing silver is said to be found, while copper is profitably taken out in large quantities, but the wealth of this country, I think, will always be in its wonderful fertility as a fruit and vegetable garden. The trees are now loaded with oranges, car loads shipped daily from every station, and the irrigation is being extended in every direction, so that the entire valley will soon be under cultivation. The country is ripe for small farmers, and many who have bought and planted trees are making a fine living off the poultry and eggs they sell. The roads are smooth and being covered with sand and good gravel. All they need is a coating of tar and asphaltum to harden them and make them free of dust. An upper coat is added each year and as there is no very heavy traffic and no freezing weather they last a long time until worn through. The December rains were a disappointment, as less than an inch fell, when ordinarly they get four and more inches, but irrigation cares for much of the loss, and the rainy season is yet to come.

We were met at Los Angeles by Ed C. Frantz, the well known paint man, who has spent the last seven winters here and knows the place as well as the streets of Chicago. He has one of the finest cars in the city and is one of the best drivers and guides, so we are in for a wonderful time.

We were accompanied on our first drive by Mrs. Frantz, who will be remembered by Englewood friends as the same gracious little lady prominent in Hamilton Park social affairs. One of the first sights we visited was a most wonderful new apartment building, said to be one of the finest on the coast, which was designed and built by Ernest Leibke, better known in Englewood as the owner of the "Ernie restaurants." We had the pleasure of meeting Ernie and were shown through the just completed building. The apartments are elegant and rent from $150 to $800 a month, everything furnished. They are the show places of the town, and the front lawn is decorated with a well from which depends "an old oaken bucket," from which the pure water constantly drips. A beautiful grotto is just below and a large spotlight illuminates the whole decoration at night. Mrs. Leibke was the designer of the decorations and every suite is in different colors and style, so it will be seen that an Englewood lady taught the architects and decorators of California a new wrinkle in their own art. Ernie's apartments are known as the Chateau apartments and are located at 100 North Kenmore ave., in the Wiltshire district.

There is no use trying to see Los Angeles without having an auto at your command, as well as an experienced guide, as there are so many attractions that cannot be reached by cars or busses, and even the taxis do not know where to take one, but do know what to charge one magnificently. Having some business in the central part of the city, we parked in a nine-story garage constructed of concrete and in which 1,500 cars are housed every day. Driveways with easy inclines reach every floor, and in a garage now building they will have two floors below the street level as well as eleven above it. It occurred to me that some arrangement like this would solve the parking troubles of Chicago and be a good paying investment for some progressive builders. While they have an officer at every crossing, the drivers are more careless than in Chicago, and drive faster. I noticed on Sunday that nearly one-half the cars were driven by women, and they take mighty big chances that a man would not dare. There are "safety zones" marked off four feet from the street car tracks, and the autos do not stop for the cars as at home. There are sunken street "warts" at every crossing and the officer stands on a raised platform in the center where his signals can be seen by everyone.

While we drove through Hollywood, the natives were not apprised of my arrival, and there was no rush to employ me. The Mabel Normand affair has quieted the picture crowd and the report is that the producers have been petitioned to cancel her pictures in many towns. The Hollywood district is a veritable dream city, with the most beautiful grounds and homes one can imagine. Sessue Hayakawa's home is wonderful and must have cost a million. The grounds are beautiful and contain much statuary, as well as floral and shrubbery decorations. We heard he had sold it, and all accounts to the contiary, I was not the buyer. However, Jack Dempsey is selling out his ornamental corner residence, as he has only his old mother to occupy it, and she prefers more modest quarters, and the luxuries of the quarter of a million palace is too rich for her good old Irish blood.

Ralph Hardacre, born and raised in Englewood, and a former Englewood High school graduate, is vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings bank here, which has a dozen branches in this part of the state. Mr. Hardacre is one of the solid and rising men of the city. I also learned that William Davis, formerly of Englewood and Stewart ave., is head of a Ford automobile financing concern which does big business in taking up mortgages on Ford cars sold on time, and has no reason to fear a cold winter. There are a lot of Englewood people here that I have not met up with as yet, but they are all prosperous and wedded to the climate. Theodore Linstrom, formerly the Halsted street hatter, our old bachelor friend, Myron L. Crane, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Saterlee, and many others are in Los Angeles, while Charles Manahan, the jeweler, is just across in Pasadena and doing a thriving business. Am going to the wonderful Mission play this week and will tell something of it and the old mission of San Gabriel, and Ramona's birthplace, in my next letter. Just a bit homesick for good old Englewood, notwithstanding the many attractions and comforts here.

Death of C. C. Harder, Chicago Pioneer

It is with deep regret that the Englewood Times records in this issue the death of an honored pioneer of Chicago, Mr. C. C. Harder, 4633 Michigan ave.

Mr. Harder, for many years, was at the head of the great chain of furniture and storage houses which bear his name, and by his industry and fidelity he had built up for these places a splendid reputation—a reputation for sterling honesty and integrity.

Many years ago Mr. Harder secured his start by engaging in the work of trader and later established the first of his remarkable chain of storage and furniture houses.

Mr. Harder was honest, faithful in his work, unselfish and untiring in his devotion to duty. He was an honor to his family and an honor to this great city.

Englewood Woman's Club

The speaker of the afternoon will be Lydia Schmidt, an American woman who has spent many months in Europe studying International Relations from the European point of view—and she speaks with authority upon international questions. The Illinois League of Women Voters deem her a most interesting speaker and a woman possessing a fund of valuable information.

Ee-elect Oakhaven Officials

No changes in officers and only two changes on the board of directors followed the annual meeting of the corporate board of Oakhaven Old People's home held Monday evening, January 14. Definite date for the opening of the home, under construction at 113th pl. and Western ave., has not yet been set, but it will be some time in February. On the board of directors, George Hunt, 7127 Normal blvd., and R. M. Reed, 7144 Princeton ave., were elected to fill the places of George W. Dixon and Ross Stewart.

Officers of Oakhaven corporate board are: Dr. R. A. White, president; Foster S. Nims, vice president; E. W. Stansbury, treasurer; Earl C. Hales, secretary; Mrs. Charles M. Woodman, field secretary.

Former directors re-elected are as follows: Mrs. Charles S. Clark, Asa A. Davidson, Hon. Charles S. Deneen, Mrs. W. L. Gregson, Earl C. Hales, Mrs. George S. Haskell, Mrs. Henry A. Morgan, Foster S. Nims, E. W. Stansbury, Dr. R. A. White, Mrs. Charles M. Woodman.

E. B. M. A. Rehearsal for Show Next Week

With rehearsals for the big show, to be given under the auspices of the Englewood Business Men's association, scheduled to start next week, the date for the performance has been set as Monday, February 18. The show will be given at the National theater.

"We have selected a world beating chorus of beauties to compete for the favor of the audience in the comic opera," said C. R. Edrington, business manager of the association, who is general director for the event. "The comedy parts in the opera and the minstrel, which will constitute the first part, have been entrusted to business and professional men in the association. Special scenic effects for the entire production have already been ordered. I am willing to guarantee that the show will be one long to be remembered by those who see it."

The "Isle of Delight" is the name of the comic opera, which is the second number on the program. It is in this that local "chorus girls" will compete in talent and beauty. The scenes for the opera are laid on the cannibal island of the South Seas.

The third part of the show is a satire on Hollywood, "Follies of Hollywood," that has been written specially for the performance by Mr. Edrington. The purpose of the play is to create a special fund to advertise the Englewood business district.

We will accept classified ads by telephone hereafter from subscribers or persons known to us, and they may remit later. Call Englewood 1400, Englewood Times, up to 5 p. m. Wednesday evenings.
